Ebury, a global financial services firm and one of Europe's largest fintech, is delighted to announce its new sponsorship with Parma Calcio 1913 ("Parma") for the rest of the 2022/23 football season.

As part of its sponsorship, Ebury will serve as the official training sponsor for the men's football team. The club has an outstanding record of success since its establishment in 1913, winning titles on the domestic and international stage.

Parma is most famous for the period between 1992 and 2002, when it collected all of its eight major titles, winning three Coppa Italia, one Supercoppa Italiana, two UEFA Cups, one European Super Cup and one UEFA Cup Winners' Cup.

The Ebury brand will be visible on the training kits of both the iconic team and the management team led by Fabio Pecchia, which is currently competing in Serie B, the second-highest division in the Italian football league system.

Founded in London in 2009 by Spanish entrepreneurs Juan Lobato and Salvador García, Ebury has expanded its global presence across 32 offices in 21 countries, with more than 1,300 employees.

Ebury specialises in international payments and collections, FX risk management and business lending. The company offers payments and FX capabilities in 130+ currencies worldwide, including both major and emerging markets. During the last year, the volume of transactions executed by Ebury exceeded $21bn and the company has been the recipient of many international awards, including the Financial Times 1000 Europe's fastest-growing companies and The Sunday Times Tech Track 100. In 2020, Santander became a majority shareholder in the London-based fintech.

Fernando Pierri, Global Chief Commercial Officer at Ebury commented:

"We are delighted to support a team like Parma: a club that has always shown passion and determination across all challenges, both on the field and in the wider community. On behalf of Ebury, I wish the whole Parma Calcio team the best of luck for the rest of this current season and beyond. We will be rooting for you!"

"It's fantastic to see the growth of the Ebury brand as we extend our footprint, building new relationships worldwide. Partnering with an iconic brand like Parma that truly shares our values is an exciting way to become more integrated with the businesses we support."
